VOTE IS NEAR
ON PARTITION OF HOLY LANDUNITED STATES AND
RUSSIA AGREE ON ENFORCEMENT

BY LARRY HAUCK

Lake Success, Nov. 11. (P)—Agreement between the United States and Russia on enforcing partition of Palestine today pushed the proposal to create independent Jewish and Arab nations in the Holy Land nearer a United Nations vote.

Dr. Herbert V. Evatt of Australia, chairman of the assembly's 57-nation Palestine committee, predicted the ballot on acceptance or rejection of partition would come within three days in the committee. The outcome remained in doubt despite the rare U. S.-Soviet accord because of strenuous Arab objections.

Another unknown factor was the eventual attitude of the British government toward the enforcement plan, which provides that Britain, as mandatory power, shall "be responsible for the maintenance of law and order and the conduct of essential public services in Palestine" for an interim period preceding independence.

The cabinet was scheduled to meet in London today and a British spokesman said his delegation hoped to have definite instructions by tomorrow. The British have insisted that they would not seek to enforce any Holy Land solution which was not acceptable to both the Jews and Arabs. The Jews accept partition and the Arabs threaten force if it is adopted.

A nine-nation "partition" subcommittee failed to give final approval to the new plan last night despite the overall U. S.-Russian agreement on the grounds that the 29-nation assembly and authority of a proposed U. N. commission charged with interim administration had not been sufficiently clarified.

Car Owners to Get
Blankets All Filled
Out for 1948 Tags

Lansing, Nov. 11. (P)—Michigan car owners soon will be receiving their 1948 auto license applications all filled out under a new program installed by the department of state.

"We urge that the people save these applications until license plates go on sale, and also that they check them carefully for errors," said Deputy Secretary of State Harold Thompson.

He said the applications may be taken to the nearest branch office of the department and exchanged for license plates when the latter go on sale, the date for the sale has not been announced yet.

"After this year," Thompson said, "we expect to have almost an errorless application file. But this year, the car owners must cooperate in checking for errors on the application form mailed to them. They should make the corrections on the form which is sent to them, then our records will be corrected before next year."

Thompson said the department now is mailing filled-out application blanks at the rate of 100,000 a day to the 1,600,000 registered auto owners in Michigan.

Preparedness Stressed
As Peace Insurance In Armistice Day Speeches

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

President Truman led the nation today in paying homage to the men and women who gave their lives for the United States in times of war.

In observance in many cities throughout the country marking the anniversary of the end of World War One, military and civilian leaders stressed the theme of preparedness as a means of insuring peace.

The president arranged to lay a wreath at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier in the traditional Armistice Day memorial services at Arlington national cemetery.

Detachments from the Army, Navy and Marines were assigned to take part in the ceremonies sponsored by the American Legion. Speakers included Secretary of the Navy John L. Sullivan, James F. O'Neil, national commander of the American Legion, and Mrs. W. Hutton of Excelsior, Minn., national president of the Legion Auxiliary.

Secretary of the Army Kenneth C. Royall went to Philadelphia to speak in Independence Hall, Lt. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, commander of the occupation army in Japan, was featured speaker in ceremonies at Cincinnati, and Rear Admiral Oswald S. Colclough, judge advocate of the Navy, spoke at Scranton, Pa.

Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz said in an Armistice Day statement that a "strong and well-equipped Army Navy and Air Force" is necessary to assure Americans "that the peace gained for us by the heroic sacrifice of the men and women of both World Wars is preserved in the ideals for which they fought."

In Paris, meanwhile, the Communists made a political event of western Europe's main celebration of the Armistice at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Paris.

Communist party members were summoned to a parade of "workers, democrats and patriots" following official ceremonies. The avowed purpose of the Communist demonstration was to show "their unshaken will to defend peace, democracy and the independence of France."

President Vincent Auriol of France headed the official ceremonies starting with a military and war veterans' parade. The United States Army in France planned a ceremony at St. Germain Isle in the Seine River for some 150 American soldiers of the supply headquarters of the American graves registration command.

Two Prisoners Trying To Make Escape

Beeville, Tex., Nov. 11. (P)—A sharp-shooting sheriff, although critically wounded, shot and killed two prisoners in a furious gun fight in a Pettus, Tex., filling station yesterday.

The sheriff, Vail Ennis of Bee county, was reported in a "serious condition" today.

Sheriff Ennis, about 45, found the men at the Pettus filling station, about 17 miles from Beeville. He took them into his office, handcuffed them and went to a telephone inside the filling station to call the Karnes county sheriff, Harper Morris.

One of the prisoners drew a 32 caliber pistol from a shoulder holster and ordered Ennis to "put up your gun and drop that (telephone) receiver." He then opened fire, sending six shots at the sheriff, two of which struck him — one in the chest and one in the abdomen.

As the two men turned and headed for the door, the wounded sheriff propped himself against the wall, emptied his pistol at the men, reloaded and emptied it again.

One of the men fell dead at the door. The other stopped, started to drag his partner, made the doorway and then fell under Ennis' bullet barrage.

As an officer, Ennis previously had killed four persons.

Freighter Rips Up
Telephone Cables
In Detroit River

Detroit, Nov. 11. (P)—Repairs were being made today on 40 long distance and 60 local telephone circuits across the Detroit river between Detroit and Windsor, Ontario.

Service over the 100 circuits was cut yesterday after the stern anchor of the freighter Benjamin F. Fairless hooked three submarine cables near the American side of the river.

Michigan Bell Telephone Co. official, said the circuits to Windsor were "ripped out by the roots." Service was partially restored 15 minutes later when the company routed calls through its cable in the Detroit-Windsor tunnel under the Detroit river. Service was almost normal two and one-half hours later.

The freighter, operated by the Pittsburgh Steamship Co., dropped anchor in the river to await arrival of a gyro-compass expert flying from Cleveland, Ohio, to repair the ship's instrument.

Mother Is Accused

Springfield, Mo., Nov. 11. (P)—A 26-year-old mother was held without charge today in the strangulation death of her 3-year-old son.

A coroner's jury ruled yesterday that the child died by strangulation at the hands of his mother, Mrs. Letha Lake.

Police quoted Mrs. Lake as saying she felt "an urge to kill someone" as she sat listening to the radio and, after swallowing a liniment in an unsuccessful attempt to end her own life, strangled her son.

TAX CHARGES

Detroit, Nov. 11. (P)—The Automobile Manufacturers Association was lined up today with Recorder's Judge W. McKay Skillman and state and federal authorities in condemnation of new and used car dealers reportedly dealing in black market automobile sales.

Approval of Judge Skillman's one-man grand jury report, issued this weekend following his long investigation of car trading in the Detroit area, was reported yesterday after the AMA board of directors meeting.

"The grand juror has the legal authority to obtain legal evidence," said the AMA statement, commenting on the Skillman report in which the judge promised to issue warrants charging some dealers with filing false tax returns, overcharging car buyers, dealing "under the table" with quantities of new cars and channeling automobiles out of Detroit.

While the vast majority of car dealers are conducting their business honestly, the industry believes that a few dishonest ones should be prosecuted," the AMA added.

Flint Case Revived

The association's blessing on the grand jury report came as Gov. Sigler moved to "command respect" for state tax laws which Judge Skillman said had been violated, and a federal assistant collector of Internal Revenue promised that "dealers prosecuted by the state will also be prosecuted by the federal government if they have not paid income taxes on their excess profits."

TWO CHILDREN
DROWN IN TUBSunday School Teacher
Admits Taking Lives
Of Her Babies

Ravenna, O., Nov. 11. (P)—Sheriff George E. Shields today said a 29-year-old Sunday school teacher had admitted in a verbal statement drowning her two children late yesterday in a half-filled tub of scalding water.

The officer said the woman, Mrs. Edward McVeigh, Jr., will be charged with murder today in the deaths of Malcolm, five, and David, two months, at nearby Gaugon-On-The-Lake.

He quoted the woman as saying she threw David into the tub and then chased Malcolm into the basement. After beating his head against an iron post and the stairs, she placed him in the tub also and then attempted to drown herself in a shallow pool behind the house, Shields said.

He declared the woman gave a reason for her act, but declined to disclose it. She was held under police custody on a hospital where she was taken in hysterical condition.

The officer said she ran out of the house following the tragedy and told a neighbor:

"I've just killed the children. They're upstairs. Call the police."

Hughes Denies He

Erase 'Outlaw' Ban

Washington, Nov. 11. (P)—Howard Hughes denied "positively" today that he ever offered Bennett E. Meyers, retired general $100,000 to try and remove a New York City ban against showing of the "Hughes" motion picture, "The Outlaw."

But the lanky millionaire film producer and aircraft designer testified that Meyers "told me he had talked with Mayor O'Dwyer" of New York City about allowing the Hughes picture to be exhibited. It was banned in New York on the grounds it was too sexy.

"Did you offer Meyers any sum of money to do this job?" pressed Chairman Ferguson (R-Mich.) of the Senate War Investigating subcommittee which is inquiring into Hughes' $40,000,000 worth of wartime airplane contracts.

Hughes hesitated. Finally, he said he wanted to "make it very clear" that he had not employed Meyers, that he had not asked him to do anything except "remove the finger that I believe he had put on it."

NO HUNTER JAM
YET AT STRAITSRiflemen Begin To Head
North, Hope For More
Tracking Snow

Lansing, Nov. 11. (P)—Deer hunters, cheered by the first snow of the season, were beginning to move north, the conservation department reported today, but the highway department said no appreciable rush had yet developed at the Straits of Mackinac.

Thus far, two of the five state ferries across the Straits have been able to carry all the traffic operating on a one and a half hour schedule. The other boats were held in readiness to be put into operation as the demand warranted.

Conservation officials said the back of October's unseasonably hot and dry weather had been broken by rains and then the cold and snow of the past weekend.

Many deer hunters were hoping for more snow to permit tracking. The rains have already soaked out the under foot noises that plagued the small game hunters, and the colder weather has minimized the threat of meat spoilage that sometimes sends parties home before all members have filled their licenses.

Returns from early deer hunting license sales have been running behind early sales a year ago, but hunter accommodations in the north were reported filling rapidly.

The 15-day general deer season opens Saturday.

Council Skeptical
About Mild Winter
Squirrel Forecast

Detroit, Nov. 11. (P)—Since even the best laid plans of men and squirrels may go astray, the Detroit city council has appropriated $35,000 for snow shoveling this winter.

The councilmen listened yesterday while Glenn G. Richards, department of public works superintendent, explained the usual appropriation might not be entirely used. He relayed reports from the north that squirrels have been gathering exceptionally small hoards of nuts this year.

Richards interpreted this to mean a mild winter. But the council members approved the full appropriation just in case the squirrels were mistaken.

Truck Driver Dies

Saginaw, Mich., Nov. 11. (P)—While the last strains of a trucker's dirge echoed from the juke box of a nearby restaurant, two trucks were involved in a collision early today in which one driver was burned to death.

The name of the juke box tune, witnesses said, was "there'll be a wreck on the highway tonight."

The victim, Jack C. Riggie, 23, Saginaw, was trapped in his burning cab after his truck ran into the rear of a stalled vehicle driven by Clifford Green, 18, of Flint.

Green was not hurt.

Tinker Field P-47's;
Two Dead, 5 Injured

Oklahoma City, Nov. 11. (P)—An Army B-29 bomber plunged into a number of P-47 fighter planes stored at Tinker Field last night, killing two fliers and injuring five.

The bomber had just taken off from Tinker Field and had gone about a mile when it dipped sharply and plunged into the plane storage area.

It crashed down into decommissioned planes stacked down to the field, and burst into flames. Four fighter planes were destroyed and 12 were damaged.

First Lt. William F. Walkemeyer, 23, the co-pilot of Salina, Kas., and Sgt. John A. Langenberg, 24, the radio engineer of Fond du Lac, Wis., (148 W. Johnson Ave.) were killed.

Injured were: First Lt. D. E. Quillin, 28, pilot, Oxford, O.; M/Sgt. Wendell G. McFarlin, 27, engineer, Rt. 5, Shelbyville, Tenn.; S/Sgt. Pasquale A. Manzi, 30, left gunner, New York City (234 E. 25th St.); Corp. Robert A. Quinn, 31, right gunner, Providence, R. I. (93 Huron St.); Pfc. J. F. Anderson, 18, ground crewman, Worthington, Minn. (1318 Second Ave.).

Sgt. Manzi emerged from the crash as a hero.

He and Corporal Quinn were in the tail section when the plane went down. Quinn, the smallest man in the plane, tried an escape hatch, but the parachute he was wearing caught and trapped him. Manzi delayed his own escape to untangle the corporal and shove him through.

The B-29's home field was the Smoky Hill Army Air Base at Salina, Kas.

At the hospital, Sgt. Manzi remarked: "It always happens just before a holiday."

He was in another B-29 crash some time ago—just before another holiday.

Lansing, Nov. 11. (P)—Governor Sigler said Monday he would not resort to technicalities to keep Dr. J. K. Altland as State Health Commissioner after the Senate failed to confirm him.

The governor said he had no desire to "flout" the Senate's apparent belief that Dr. Altland should not be health commissioner.

"I do not think an official should hold office on a technicality," the governor declared.

He asked the Attorney General's Department to decide whether Dr. Altland could continue temporarily as commissioner to carry on the work of the department.

"I want a top flight individual" for the position, Sigler said, "and I don't want to be rushed into an appointment."

The Senate failed to confirm Dr. Altland in a controversy over the program of free immunization for children. Sigler had removed Dr. William DeKleine as commissioner and appointed Dr. Altland in his place.

Health department sources said they expected Dr. Altland would return to his former position as director of the department's division of county health services.

SELF-SUPPORT
PROMOTED IN
RUINED REICHHELP FOR CHINESE TO COST ANOTHER
60 MILLION

Washington, Nov. 11. (P)—Secretary of State Marshall testified today it is vital that Germany's economy be restored to the point where its people can become self-supporting and contribute to Europe's economy.

The secretary of state told the Senate foreign relations committee he has no doubt that propaganda attempts will be made to convince the people of Europe that any such rebuilding of Germany threatens France and Italy.

But he expressed confidence that the United States, in administering a proposed long-range recovery program will be able to overcome this "perversion of facts."

Situation In Muddle

Marshall brought up the question of German economy after he had told the senators that $60,000,000 in aid will be needed for China before next July 1, in addition to $2,587,000,000 for European countries and occupation costs. This makes a total of $2,657,000,000 for all foreign aid programs through the first half of 1948, the secretary said.

"It is vital that the economy of Germany be restored, keeping in mind protection against its rebuilding its war potential," Marshall said. "Germany must be made self-supporting and able to contribute to the economy of Europe."

Apparently alluding to the present failure of the major Allies to agree on a future course in Germany, Marshall said that "the present situation doesn't require much description."

The cabinet member said that the United States now must contend with the fears of some people in Europe that the reconstruction of Germany's economy will put that country "where it will again be involved in the destruction of European civilization."

But he said he believes such fears will be overcome when it becomes apparent that the United States is attempting only to get Europe on its feet.

Separate Peace Suggested

Committee Chairman Vandenberg (R-Mich.), who has suggested that the other Allies make a separate peace with Germany if Russia refuses to go along, said there have been some charges that American attempts to give economic aid to 16 western nations would erect a wall between east and west in Europe.

Marshall agreed with Vandenberg that the proposed recovery program looks to an interchange of goods between the eastern and western portions of Europe after 1951.

Senator Brewster (R-Me.) and other Republican leaders have urged the inclusion of aid to China in any emergency foreign relief program.

Asked whether any additional appropriations will be requested for Greece and Turkey, Marshall replied it is his understanding that no additional funds will be needed in the present fiscal year for that purpose. The fiscal year ends June 30, 1948.

The overall figure of $2,657,000,000 includes $1,500,000,000 in proposed outlays for the long-range European recovery program.

LATVIAN TELLS OF OCCUPATION

Brutalities By Germans, Russians Described To Lions Club

The horrible experiences of the Latvian people under two periods of occupation by Russian troops and under Nazi occupation during the war were described in vivid detail by Harry William Sinka, Latvian refugee sailor, in an address to the Escanaba Lions club Monday evening at the Sherman hotel. Sinka is visiting his uncle, Krist Oshe, Bark River Road, Two, a member of the engineering staff of the City of Escanaba.

"There is no difference between the German Nazis and the Russian Communists," Sinka declared. "Both are brutal and murderous beyond all description."

Sinka said that the Russians moved into Latvia and the other small Baltic states of Estonia and Lithuania at the outset of the war and immediately started a round-up of men and women who were regarded as unfriendly to the Russian occupation.

"These people were deprived of their property rights and sent to Siberia in cattle cars. In two days, 34,000 Latvians were arrested and their families separated. Those who resisted were immediately shot."

Beaten By Gestapo
After Germany declared war on Russia, the Nazi army overran the Baltic states and drove out the Russians. Sinka escaped to Norway but a Nazi sympathizer in Norway betrayed him and Sinka was captured and taken to Stettin, Germany.

"We were jammed in a small room in the forecabin of the ship, so crowded that there was just room to stand. We were confined to those quarters in total darkness for two days without food or water on the trip to Stettin."

Upon arrival in Stettin, the men were questioned by Gestapo officers and brutally beaten. Sinka was knocked into unconsciousness and his nose was broken. Later they were transferred to a German concentration camp.

The brutality in the Nazi concentration camp was beyond description, the sailor revealed. Prisoners were beaten daily and were slowly starved. Many were taken to torture chambers and never reappeared. A number deliberately strayed across a forbidden ditch to be mowed down by machine guns, preferring death to the miseries of the concentration camp.

During an Allied bombing raid on nearby military objectives, a number of bombs hit the concentration camp, killing many prisoners and wrecking several barracks. Sinka escaped the camp during the confusion and made his way to Latvia. He was there only a short time relatively safe with forged papers, when the Russians were driving from the east and Sinka fled Latvia with his mother and two sisters. They made their way to Kiel, arriving there when the British were occupying that territory. Later they went to the American occupation zone in Germany at the close of the war.

Sinka declared that the second Russian occupation of Latvia, which is still continuing, is worse even than the first occupation by the Red army. The Latvian people have lost all of their property and their accumulated wealth and thousands are being deported to Siberia as slave laborers.

The Latvian sailor, now a man without a country, is enthusiastic

Powers Sanatorium Receives New-Type Pressure Chamber

Work has just been completed on the installation of a Barach equalizing pressure chamber at Pinecrest Sanatorium in Powers. This equipment was made available to sanatorium patients through the generosity of two citizens residing in the sanatorium area, Nicholas Khoury, of Iron Mountain, and Maurice Warshawsky, of Crystal Falls. The total amount of the gift approximated $5,000.

The equalizing chamber is in no sense a substitute for other forms of therapy, but it does contribute a valuable therapeutic adjunct particularly in those cases of far advanced disease in which surgical collapse measures might be contraindicated, it was pointed out. The patient being treated in an equalizing chamber makes no muscular effort to breathe. The respiratory exchange of air is accomplished entirely by mechanical changes in atmospheric pressure. It is an adjunct to therapy in tuberculosis that provides curative rest to the lung not hitherto possible.

This new equipment was designed by Dr. Barach and his co-workers at Columbia university, New York City. The machine at Pinecrest is the thirteenth to be manufactured to date, and the first to be installed in Michigan. Physicians who have utilized equalizing chambers have been very enthusiastic about the response of patients.

RAIL WORKERS GIVEN ADVICE

File Sickness Benefit Application Forms Promptly

D. J. Hadden, Milwaukee representative of the Railroad Retirement Board, visited Escanaba today and urged railroad workers claiming sickness benefits to file their applications promptly.

The board spokesman explained that in order to avoid the loss of benefits, a claimant must mail his application not later than the seventh day after the first day of sickness claimed. If it is mailed any later, it may not be received within the legal time limit and 1 or more days' benefits may be lost. "For example," Mr. Hadden said, "if a man claims benefits beginning October 1, but notice of his sickness is not received until October 15, the earliest day on which his registration period can begin is October 6. As a result, he will lose 5 days' benefits."

Mr. Hadden also emphasized that a claimant should enclose his 1946 Certificate of Service Months and Wages, Form BA-6, if he has one, with his application, thereby speeding action on his claim. Forms BA-6 are statements of earnings prepared each year by the Board for railroad workers, and the amount of benefits which the claimant will receive for each day of sickness is based on his 1946 railroad earnings.

Application blanks, which are pre-addressed and which can be mailed without envelopes, may be obtained at the Board office located at 740 N. Plankinton Ave., Milwaukee 3, Wisconsin, at the local railroad, or from the local secretary of the railroad labor organization of which the employee is a member.

If an employee is not able to pick up the form himself, he may have some member of his family or a fellow employee get it for him. Additional information on filing sickness applications may be obtained by calling in person or by writing to the Board's office located at the above address.

People Of Lorraine Suffer Still, Says Mrs. A. Ferrari

"I'm so proud of all my relatives in Lorraine, France," says Mrs. Andrew Ferrari who returned Friday from a four month visit with them. "During the war everyone of them had a special card and were on the Nazi blacklist because they not only spoke French but were loyal to French traditions and government, too."

Mrs. Ferrari, who was born and reared in Berniering, Lorraine, France, said that her people thought she looked "so" young. In Lorraine, the people, of course, were caught in the war started by the Nazis and in the famine which ensued. They still have difficulty getting food—each person is allowed only a pound of fat monthly and then he is not always able to procure it. Meat is plentiful but at a very high price, which makes it too dear for most of the people.

Traveling in France and Lorraine was not hampered by the effects of war when Mrs. Ferrari visited. She did state though that at nearly every bridge trains had to slow down because most of them are temporary structures erected after the Americans came. Mrs. Ferrari said she did not see one bridge while in Lorraine that had not been destroyed, either by invading German armies or the Allied soldiers checking the advance.

In Lorraine, Mrs. Ferrari, who came here as a French war bride after the First World War, visited in Thionville, Terville, Hargarten Falck and Berniering with her brother and three sisters and their cousins. While near Paris Mrs. Ferrari met about 200 American Boy Scouts attending the Boy Scout jamboree and stated it was a delight to meet them.

A great deal of Lorraine was still recognizable to Mrs. Ferrari despite the war. During World War I she conducted on a French railroad and was familiar with the whole of the province. On her trip she toured nearly all of the province again, from Metz to Thionville and Strassburg.

"To my relatives the war was like the end of the world," stated Mrs. Ferrari who recounted the night of fear of her people, while listening to the stomp of the boots outside, the deprivation and hunger due to Nazi pillaging, and the inhumanity which the people were subjected to. One of the relatives told the visiting American that the German soldiers came through their homes at 5:30 in the morning to arouse young and old and send them out to work; only to have the fruits of their labor confiscated.

At one time Mrs. Ferrari's nephews and several other young men were conscripted to go into the German forces. If they didn't their parents would be sent to concentration camps! When the boys heard of the coming of U. S. troops, while on furlough, it was decided not to return to the German camp. To avoid being caught the boys lived in a huge hole on the outskirts of town. The people of the village, all of whom lived eight days in the cellar under the priest's house during a period of heavy bombing, brought food and ammunition to the fellows. So that the Germans would not suspect anything, each boy's mother wrote daily to the sons, and adressed the letters to the German camps. When SS troops finally caught them the boys downed every last one of them.

For the most part, the people of Lorraine are disgusted and downhearted. Ever since 1870 it has been a matter of life or death for them to retain their Frenchness. German was studied by their children until World War I and as a result most of Lorraine's people speak both French and German, or a curious admixture now called the tongue of Lorraine. No doubt the story of the little French professor in a Lorraine school, who declared on the advent of the Germans, "Vive la France" is on every tongue there. All children are now back in school, said Mrs. Ferrari.

Mrs. Ferrari left in July aboard the Mauretania and returned to New York last Friday aboard the Queen Mary. On returning, the trip first back since she arrived 27 years ago, she brought several religious articles from France, some holy water from the shrine of Lourdes (to be used by an Escanaba girl with an affliction of the nose) and, of course, some French liquors. Oh, yes, and an Italian cigar for her husband, a veteran of World War I.

Mrs. Ruth Nygaard's Mother Passes Away

Mrs. Ruth Nygaard of Soo Hill received a telegram yesterday, stating that her mother Amanda Skoglund of Skovik, Sundsvall, Sweden, had passed away at the age of 76 years.

Mrs. Nygaard, together with her son Donald, 14 years of age, visited her mother in Sweden early last spring and summer, returning home during the latter part of July.

Charles Benzinger Named Head Of U. P. Older Boys' Parley

Charles Benzinger, Escanaba, was elected president of the Upper Peninsula Older Boys' Conference for 1948, which will be held in Iron Mountain, it was decided in elections held in the closing session of this year's meeting in Marquette.

Other officers for next year are Paul Vezina, Manistique, first vice-president; Edward Sleder, Iron Mountain, second vice-president; Jim Cox, Munising, secretary, and Wayne Hassell, Kingsford, treasurer.

Several resolutions were submitted to the conference from discussion groups. One, which talked on "Improvement of Personality," offered the following reports:

"We resolve to improve our personalities through a program of physical well-being, alertness of mind, improvement of our character principles, by being kind and understanding."

"We resolve to improve our ability to get along with others by providing social facilities through cooperative home and community action, by eliminating selfishness and a more effective control of emotions and by developing a more sympathetic understanding of others' points of view."

The discussion group on colleges reported that the students should "obtain data from college early in high school to see what courses are offered" and that anyone should attend college regardless of financial status. It also emphasized the importance of scholarship in high school years.

Groups working on boy-girl relationship said the conference should go on record as favoring a discussion of sex education in high school. They also favored joint meetings of boys' and girls' organizations to formulate a mutual code of ethics.

The vocations group urged Hi-Y promote vocational conferences by bringing in experts, interviews and by asking civic and luncheon clubs to promote vocational conferences.

Other resolutions included studying the resources and opportunities in the U. P. and promotion of libraries.

Fur Industry Grows

DELTA county fur ranchers are now harvesting their annual crop of pelts and it provides a convenient occasion to call attention to the importance of this industry in our area and to the bright prospects for future development.

The crop of ranch bred mink pelts harvested in Delta county this fall will be well in excess of a quarter million dollars. It is an industry that is growing rapidly and as it grows, the reputation of Northern Michigan mink grows accordingly. According to the fur buyers, the quality of mink pelts harvested in Northern Michigan is among the finest in the world. Our climate is ideal for the production of mink furs, providing fur of unusually fine texture combined with long wearing quality.

Although ranch bred mink have been produced in this area for a number of years, it is only in recent years that the industry has flourished into big business. Each season finds new ranchers entering the business and most of the older ones are expanding by building up their breeding stock. Virtually all of the Delta county fur producers also have increased their production of the high priced mutations, but not at the expense of the standard black mink which are the backbone of the industry.

It is well to note, too, the general spirit of cooperation that exists on the whole among the fur ranchers of the area, a willingness to exchange ideas and experiences in a common effort to enhance the popularity and demand for Delta county mink.

Hunting Statistics

NON-RESIDENT deer hunters, it seems, are much better hunters than the home grown variety, despite the obvious fact that the out-of-state hunters cannot be as familiar with our hunting grounds as the resident hunter.

Figures released by the state conservation department reveal that 50% of the non-residents filled their licenses last year, compared with the state average of only 32.6%. Only Dickinson county produced a better yield than that attained by the non-residents in 1946. In Dickinson county last year 50.6% of the hunters tagged their deer. The average for the Upper Peninsula as a whole was 41.8% and in the Lower Peninsula only 29.1%.

The non-residents have consistently been the most successful hunters over the years, according to the state records. In 1945, the outstate hunters showed a 54.1% success and in 1944, the visitors were only slightly less successful, 49.3% of the non-residents going home with deer.

They say that figures don't lie, which is probably true, but figures must be properly interpreted to show the true story. The real truth is that non-resident deer hunters are not better hunters than the resident hunters. They are just less disposed to return home empty-handed. For a fee—the size of which, incidentally, is increasing each year—they buy their deer from some successful hunter, put on their own seal and go home straight-faced with a tall tale about how they bagged it.

If you are prone to cast your scorn upon the outstate hunter who buys his deer, an illegal practice in this state, remember to save some scorn for the resident hunter who makes the sale. Usually he is a guy who operates on a wholesale basis.

The UAW's Threat

THE United Auto Workers union of the CIO, in convention at Atlantic City, discussed among other things ways and means of defeating every congressman who voted for the Taft-Hartley labor act. Similar expressions were heard at the CIO and AFL national conventions recently and more of the same will be heard when various other unions meet in conventions scheduled in the months ahead.

If the UAW were the politically powerful group that it pretends that it is, it naturally follows that its power would be most keenly felt in Detroit, home of the automobile industry. And yet when the UAW-CIO aligned its political strength behind Mayor Jeffries in the recent Detroit mayoralty race, most of the political veterans of Detroit regarded it as the "kiss of death" for Jeffries. In any event, Jeffries lost the election.

Public opinion polls conducted before the Taft-Hartley act was adopted and subsequently have consistently shown that a large majority of the American people are in favor of the objectives contained in the labor act. Labor unions may be surprised to note that a large number of their own members are supporters of the act, despite the unanimity with which organized labor groups in separate conventions have declared war against the act and against every congressman who voted for it. The national unions may place themselves solidly on record as bitter enemies of the Taft-Hartley act but they cannot force their members to show this same unanimity as individuals when they enter the voting booths. And they can do nothing at all about that vast majority of non-union people who can find no reason for rejecting a political candidate merely because he may have voted in support of the Taft-Hartley act.

Still Time To Give

ALTHOUGH the Community Chest campaign technically ended on Oct. 31, the campaign officials foresee the necessity of allowing an additional two weeks for the cleanup. This is the final week of the cleanup and upon the final results will be the basis for determination of whether the Community Chest idea will prevail in future years for financing worthy social and welfare activities.

The latest report of the headquarters of the campaign indicates that it is still possible to reach the $18,000 goal. It means, however, that solicitors will have to complete their calls and to make rechecks in instances where they failed to make contact with individuals on their lists. It means also that persons who have not contributed to the cause only because they were not contacted must fulfill their responsibility in the limited period remaining before the books are closed.

If the final accounting is considerably short of the $18,000 objective, it means that the agencies participating this year in the Community Chest henceforth will reserve the privilege of conducting their own campaigns.

MORE DEER 'SHINERS'

(Iron Mountain News)

Wisconsin conservation authorities blame the high cost of living for an increase in the out-of-season deer slaughter in that state, reporting the largest number of hunting law violations in its history. We have seen no Michigan reports on the subject, but it is probable, the cost of meat being what it is, more than the average number of Michigan residents are shining deer these days in an effort to stock the family larder.

In a few cases of poaching reported in Upper Peninsula newspapers in the last two weeks we note, with satisfaction, poachers caught have been given stiff jolts in justice courts. Some have paid such heavy fines they are not likely to look again upon illegal venison as cheap food. Others, unable to pay the fines, are cooling their heels in jails.

There are indications that the Michigan conservation department anticipating a record-breaking amount of hunting as well as an increase in law-breaking, is concentrating law enforcement efforts in game areas and using all available officers for that duty. Poachers are always with us and can be held in check only by constant pressure from law enforcers, as well as by heavy fines, confiscation of weapons and jail sentences when they are brought to court.

As the deer season draws near we also are concerned, especially because the number of hunters this fall probably will be unprecedented, with the prospect of an increase in the number of accidents in the woods. One need not be an apostle of gloom to see the probability that more deer hunters will be killed and more injured than ever before. We can only hope it will be otherwise. Law enforcement is a comparatively minor factor in that problem. Only the hunters, themselves, by exercise of extreme caution, can reduce the toll.

DOG'S LIFE IN AMERICA

(Christian Science Monitor)

Now there's talk of meatless days for dogs. Shall Fido feast daily on hamburger, while his master makes the supreme sacrifice every Tuesday? Veterinarians are now hastening to reassure tender-hearted owners that a day's feeding on milk, fish or vegetables will be actually good for Fido.

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Europeans should make sure that news items to this effect do not reach the hollow-eyed children of Europe. A dog's life in America, even on Blue Tuesday, might well hold such dazzling attractions for them that it would make their breadless or milkless Tuesdays harder to bear.

Fido, himself, we believe, would feel like a cur if he didn't respond to this challenge. The trouble lies with those in authority who fear such a drastic step. What are they waiting for? That's not Fido, it's a world crisis, yipping at their heels.

"OFF OF" DISCUSSION
St. Paul: Will you do my English class a favor and discuss the rightness or wrongness of "off of," as to "get down off of" something?—W.

Answer: Sometimes we need to do more than point out that a usage is erroneous. "Don't say that—it's wrong" makes little impression on students and other people who are satisfied only with the whys and wherefores of a proposition. So, let's look at it this way:

Off and on are opposites; neither word needs "of" to complete its meaning. It is as redundant to say, "The child fell off of the bed," as it would be to say, "The child jumped on of the bed."

Wrong: "He pushed her off of the chair." Right: He pushed her off the chair.

Wrong: "Children should stay off of the street." Right: Children should stay off the street.

World Events Analyzed

BY PETER EDSON

Washington. (NEA)—Wide differences in opinion on 20 leading foreign and domestic issues are shown in the answers to a questionnaire sent by this column to its 700 daily newspaper client editors and 800 members of Congress, top government officials and Washington representatives of labor and business groups. All of these issues will be considered by the coming special and regular sessions of Congress.

On the basis of a 40 per cent return, it is found that there is general agreement on only two questions.

1. Only 9 to 13 per cent believe that the U. S. should stop further aid to Europe.
2. On the question of Europe's ability to repay Marshall Plan advances, only 41 to 45 per cent believe that outright grants-in-aid should be given, with no repayment called for.

On all other questions, the opinions of the different groups varied from zero to 100 per cent. Every one of the government officials replying thinks rent controls should be extended beyond the present expiration date of Feb. 29, 1948. Not one of the senators replying would admit opposition to the president's plan that something be done about high prices at the coming special session.

This special session is opposed, however, by 60 per cent of the senators, congressmen and the Washington representatives of business and labor organizations. It is approved by 65 per cent by the editors and government officials.

—AGAINST PRICE CONTROLS—

Not one group showed a majority in favor of a return to price controls. Forty-eight per cent of the government officials answered that some limited form of price control would be necessary to control inflation, which was the most favorable showing.

A majority of government officials think prices can be brought down without reducing wages. They voted 74 per cent in support of this belief. Sixty per cent of the senators apparently hold the same view, but only 39 per cent of the congressmen.

On the likelihood of a business recession in 1948, the business leaders seem more fearful than any other group, 60 per cent answering that they saw danger ahead. Forty-seven per cent of the editors, 48 per cent of the government officials and 50 per cent of the senators are similarly concerned, but only 24 per cent of the congressmen show alarm over the possibility of a depression.

Greatest confidence in voluntary rationing is shown by federal government officials, but only 52 per cent of them think the program will accomplish the desired result of helping feed Europe. Other groups think it will fail.

Editors lead the parade in believing the Taft-Hartley bill is not too tough. They answered 88 per cent this way, as compared to 84 per cent of the congressmen, 82 per cent of the business representatives, 60 per cent of the senators and—surprisingly enough—52 per cent of the top officials of the Truman administration.

—FAVOR TAX CUT—

Editors are likewise the most enthusiastic over prospects of tax reduction, 72 per cent saying they want it next session. At the other extreme, only 48 per cent of the government officials favor it. Congressmen—who will decide the question—favor reduction.

Sixty-nine per cent of the editors think that aid to European countries should be made conditional on their taking steps to block communism. Congressional minds are more cautious. While admitting the desirability of this step, many wrote in afterthoughts, "How do you do this?" or "It can't be done."

Members of Congress and government officials seem more reluctant to write off the UN than other groups. Only 10 per cent of the senators, 26 per cent of the congressmen and 30 per cent of the government officials favor trying to set up a new world organization now. On the other hand, 41 per cent of the editors and 45 per cent of the business leaders approve this step.

The Congress is, apparently, far more opposed to universal military training than any other group. Only 39 per cent of the lawmakers favor UMT. Government officials are 70 per cent for it, editors 78 per cent and business groups 81 per cent.

Twenty-eight per cent of the editors and 27 per cent of the business groups think the world is headed for another war. But only 10 per cent of the government officials and 22 per cent of the congressmen share that view. And not one senator answered that he thought a third world war was inevitable.

street." Right: Children should stay off the street.

Both "off" and "off of" are frequently used in constructions in which "from" would be more logical. For example:

Faulty: "We bought the apples off of (or: of) a farmer." Better: We bought the apples from a farmer.

Bad: "He caught the measles off of (or: off) a playmate. Correct: He caught the measles from a playmate.

Faulty: "He helped her down off of (or: off) the horse." Better: He helped her down from the horse. Also correct: He helped her to get off the horse.

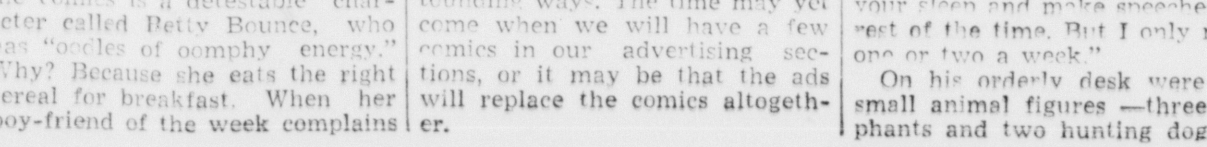

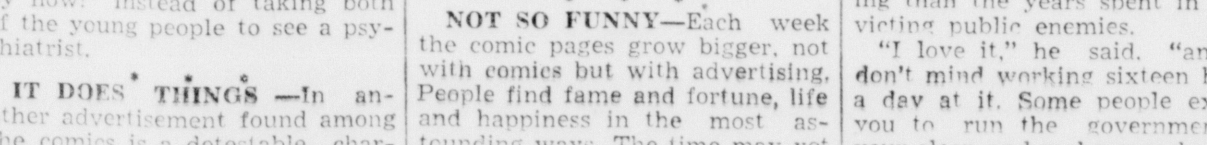

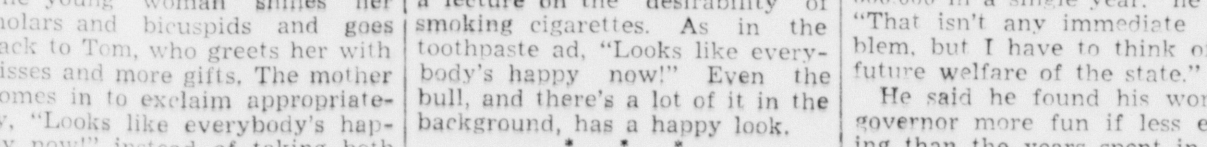

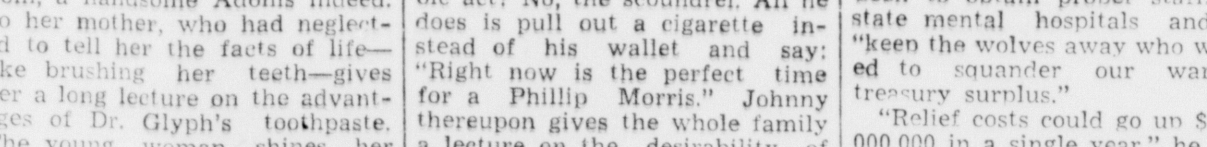

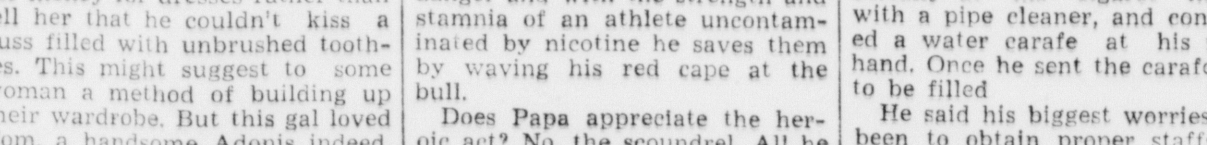

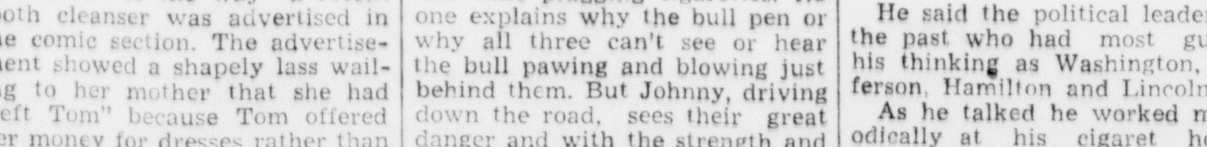

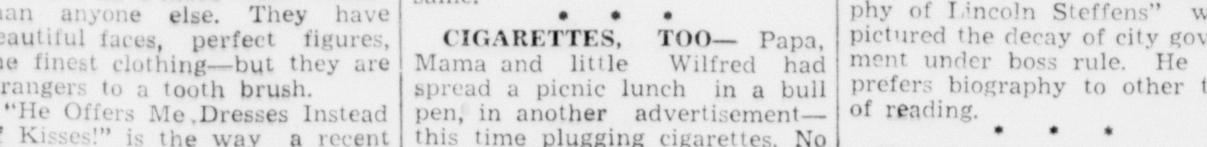

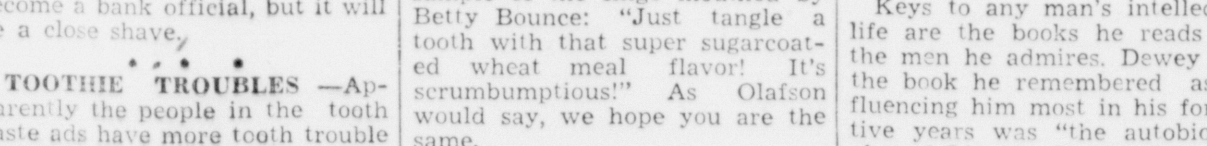

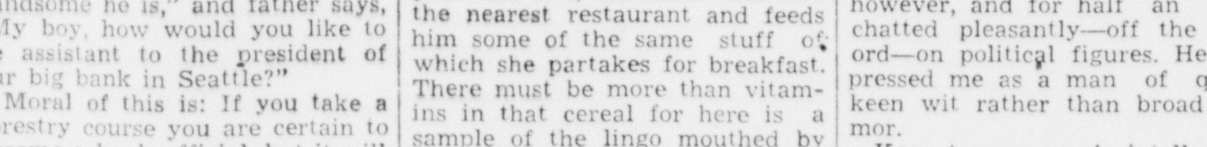

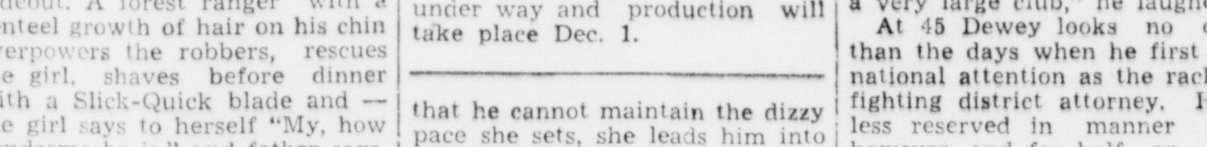

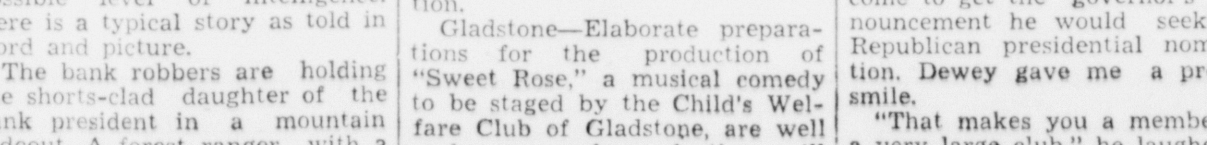

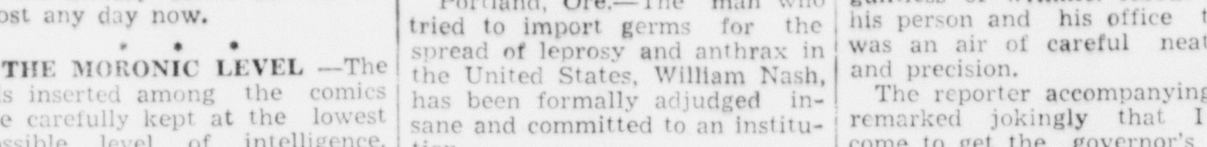

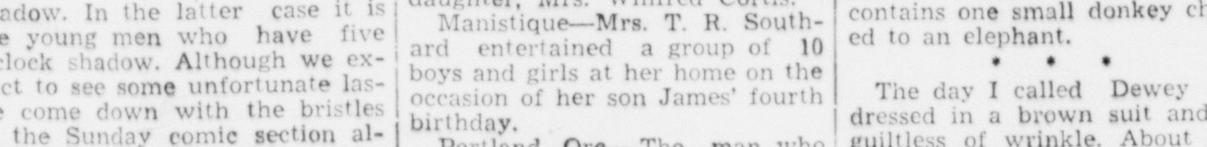

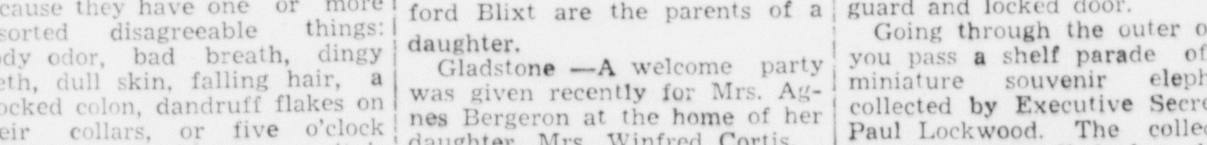

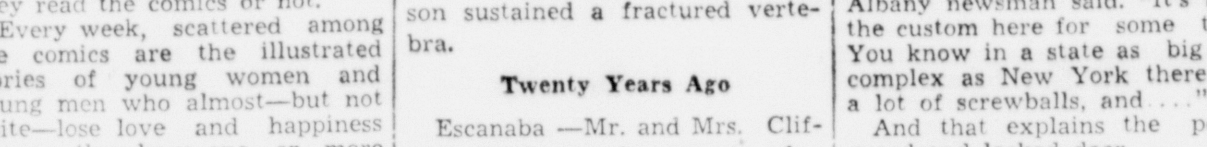

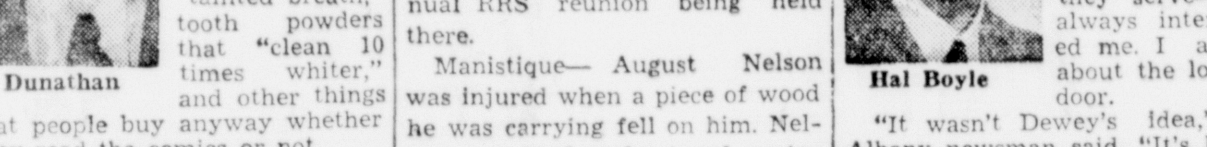

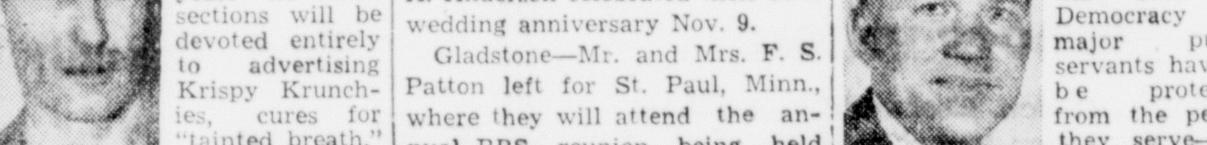

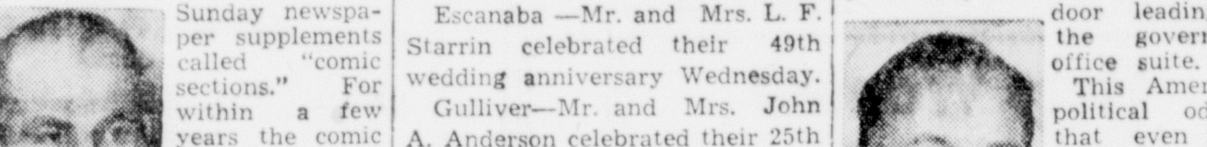

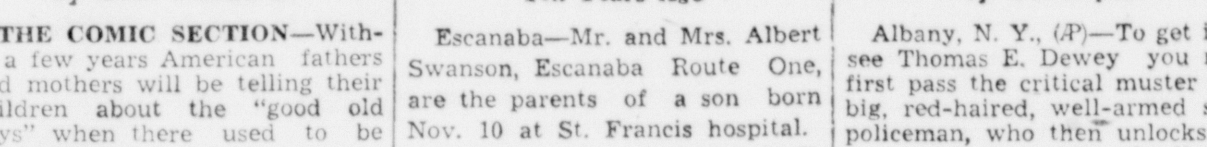

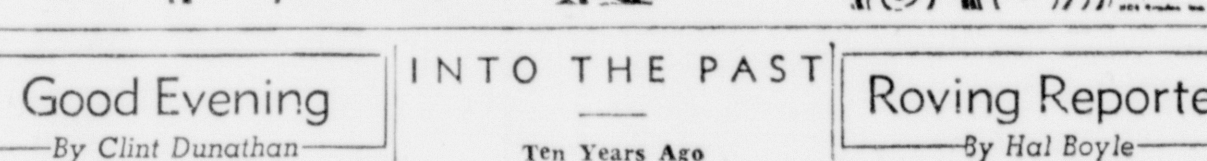

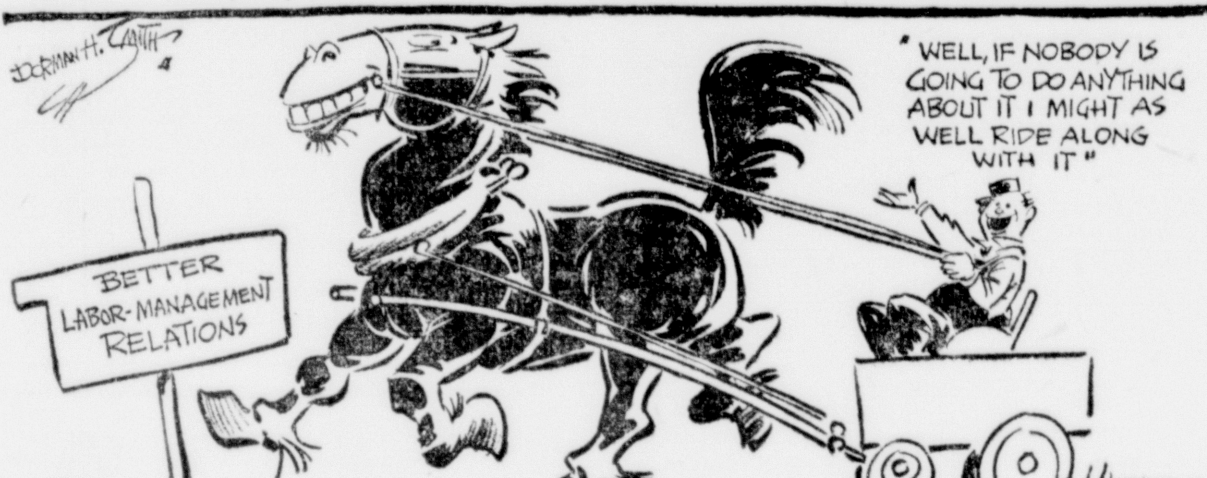

Not long ago a controversy arose in an English class as to the correctness of "climb down." One faction maintained that one can climb only upward. I was asked to act as referee.

Some dictionaries limit climb to the meaning of "to ascend; to go slowly up."

On the other hand, Merriam Webster's Funk & Wagnall's, the New Century, the Thorndike Century, etc., approve "climb down" as sound American usage. Certain it is an idiom so well established that to fail to recognize it is quite unrealistic.

THE COMIC SECTION—With a few years American fathers and mothers will be telling their children about the "good old days" when there used to be Sunday newspaper supplements called "comic sections."

Dunathan

that people buy anyway whether they read the comics or not. Every week, scattered among the comics are the illustrated stories of young women and young men who almost—but not quite—lose love and happiness because they have one or more of the following things:

Body odor, bad breath, dingy teeth, dull skin, falling hair, a blocked colon, dandruff flakes on their collars, or five o'clock shadow. In the latter case it is the young men who have five o'clock shadow. Although we expect to see some unfortunate lassie come down with the bristles in the Sunday comic section almost any day now.

THE MORONIC LEVEL—The ads inserted among the comics are carefully kept at the lowest possible level of intelligence. Here is a typical story as told in word and picture:

The bank robbers are holding the short-chad daughter of the bank president in a mountain hideout. A forest ranger with a gentle growth of hair on his chin overpowers the robbers, rescues the girl, shaves before dinner with a Slick-Quick blade and the girl says to herself "My, how handsome he is," and father says, "My boy, how would you like to be assistant to the president of our big bank in Seattle?"

Moral of this is: If you take a forestry course you are certain to become a bank official, but it will be a close shave.

TOOTHIE TROUBLES—Apparently the people in the tooth paste ads have more tooth trouble than anyone else. They have beautiful faces, perfect figures, the finest clothing—but they are strangers to a tooth brush.

"He Offers Me Dresses Instead of Kisses" is the way a recent tooth cleanser was advertised in the comic section. The advertisement showed a shapely lass waiting to her mother that she had "left Tom" because Tom offered her money for dresses rather than tell her that he couldn't kiss a puss filled with unbrushed toothies. This might suggest to some woman a method of building up their wardrobe. But this gal loved Tom, a handsome Adonis indeed. So her mother, who had neglected to tell her the facts of life—like brushing her teeth—gives her a long lecture on the advantages of Dr. Glyph's toothpaste. The young woman shines her molars and bicusps and goes back to Tom, who greets her with kisses and more gifts. The mother comes in to exclaim appropriately, "Looks like everybody's happy now!" instead of taking hold of the young people to see a psychiatrist.

IT DOES THINGS—In another advertisement found among the comics is a detestable character called Betty Bounce, who has "oodles of oomph energy." Why? Because she eats the right cereal for breakfast. When her boy-friend of the week complains CIGARETTES, TOO—Papa, Mama and little Wilfred had spread a picnic lunch in a bull pen, in another advertisement—this time plugging cigarettes. No one explains why the bull pen or why all three can't see or hear behind them. But Johnny, driving down the road, sees the great danger and with the strength and stamina of an athlete uncontaminated by nicotine he saves them by waving his red cape at the bull.

Does Papa appreciate the heroic act? No, the scoundrel. All he does is pull out a cigarette instead of his wallet and say: "Right now is the perfect time for a Phillip Morris." Johnny thereupon gives the whole family a lecture on the desirability of smoking cigarettes. As in the toothpaste ad, "Looks like everybody's happy now!" Even the bull, and there's a lot of it in the background, has a happy look.

NOT SO FUNNY—Each week the comic pages grow bigger, not with comic but with advertising. People find fame and fortune, life and happiness in the most astounding ways. The time may yet come when we will have a few comics in our advertising sections, or it may be that the ads will replace the comics altogether.

Roving Reporter

Albany, N. Y. (AP)—To get in to see Thomas E. Dewey you must first pass the critical muster of a big, red-haired, well-armed state policeman, who then unlocks the door leading to the governor's office suite.

This American political oddity that even in a Democracy the major public servants have to be protected from the people they serve—has always interested me. I asked about the locked door.

"It wasn't Dewey's idea," an Albany newsman said. "It's been the custom here for some time. You know in a state as big and complex as New York there are a lot of screwballs, and . . ."

And that explains the police guard and locked door. Going through the outer office you pass a shelf parade of 150 miniature souvenir elephants collected by Executive Secretary Paul Lockwood. The collection contains one small donkey chained to an elephant.

The day I called Dewey was dressed in a brown suit and tie, guileless of wrinkle. About both his person and his office there was an air of careful neatness and precision.

The reporter accompanying me remarked jokingly that I had come to get the governor's announcement he would seek the Republican presidential nomination. Dewey gave me a precise smile.

"That makes you a member of a very large club," he laughed. At 45 Dewey looks no older than the days when he first won national attention as the rackets-fighting district attorney. He is less reserved in manner now, however, and for half an hour chatted pleasantly—off the record—on political figures. He impressed me as a man of quick keen wit rather than broad humor.

Keys to any man's intellectual life are the books he reads and the men he admires. Dewey said the book he remembered as influencing him most in his formative years was "the autobiography of Lincoln Steffens" which pictured the decay of city government under boss rule. He still prefers biography to other types of reading.

He said the political leaders of the past who had most guided his thinking as Washington, Jefferson, Hamilton and Lincoln.

As he talked he worked methodically at his cigar holder with a pipe cleaner, and consulted a water carafe at his right hand. Once he sent the carafe out to be filled.

He said his biggest worries had been to obtain proper staffs for state mental hospitals and to "keep the wolves away who wanted to squander our wartime treasury surplus."

"Relief costs could go up $100,000,000 in a single year," he said. "That isn't any immediate problem, but I have to think of the future welfare of the state." He said he found his work as governor more fun if less exciting than the years spent in convicting public enemies.

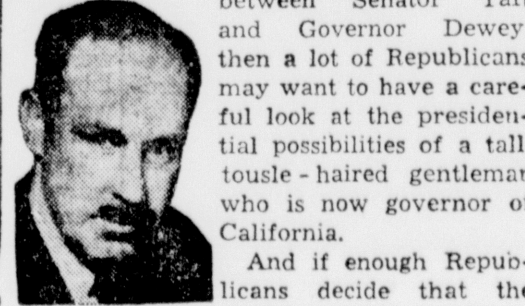

"I love it," he said, "and I don't mind working sixteen hours a day at it. Some people expect you to run the government in your sleep and make the most of the time. But I only make one or two a week."

On his orderly desk were five small animal figures—three elephants and two hunting dogs.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Aboard The Friendship Train. — If the Republican national convention, seven short months hence, runs into a deadlock between Senator Taft and Governor Dewey, then a lot of Republicans may want to have a careful look at the presidential possibilities of a tall, tousle-haired gentleman who is now governor of California.

Pearson

And if enough Republicans decide that the country won't go for a military man in the White House—an Eisenhower or a MacArthur—then Earl Warren, by all odds, would be their best bet as Republican candidate for president.

As you get to know Warren, you can understand why so many Democrats voted for him in 1942 — so many, in fact, that when Warren was asked to explain how he was able to carry all California's 58 counties, he replied: "I did it with Democrats."

Some 400,000 Democrats voted for Warren the first time he ran for governor in 1922. But by the time he was up for reelection in 1946, the Democrats were so strong for him that they nominated him on their ticket. He ran as a Democrat and a Republican—which means, of course, that he didn't have to bother about running at all. He simply walked into office.

Probably one reason for Governor Warren's fairly liberal policies is the fact that his father was a master car builder who got fired during a railroad strike. His father not only was fired, but lost his home—and had to move from Los Angeles to look for new work in Bakersfield, Calif.

—LABOR DOESN'T LIKE WARREN—

Warren has always carried a card in the Musicians' Union as a result of a clarinet-playing job he once had in the Bakersfield band. However, it has never won him any real labor friends. In fact, the unions generally consider Warren an enemy and the tool of the big California interests.

As far as this writer can gauge the situation, however, Warren has called his shots pretty much as they came. He has teamed up with neither one side nor the other. If he can be accused of anything, it is of being a cool and calculated middle-of-the-roader.

When it has come to political appointments, for instance, Warren has chosen from the Democrats as well as the Republicans. And his appointments on the whole have been good. On foreign affairs, he has never stuck his neck out either as an isolationist or an interventionist—though the isolationists claim him as one of their own. Though he was dead

DEER PROSPECT GOOD FOR 1947

Kill May Exceed Last Year's Record Of
115,401 Bucks

The 1946 deer hunting season was one of the most successful on record, and prospect for the 1947 season which opens Saturday morning, Nov. 15, is equal to if not better than last year.

Last deer season there was a total of 350,546 hunters out after bucks in Michigan. Of this total 32.9 per cent or 115,401 of the hunters were successful in filling their license.

BE CAREFUL

Never shoot if you aren't certain what you're aiming at. Hunting accidents last year killed 24, injured 181 in Michigan.

Weather conditions are better this year than last, when the weather stayed warm until late in the season and there was little or no tracking snow in most hunting areas until Nov. 22. This year cold weather has set in earlier and if it holds there will not be the danger of venison spoiling in the woods. With colder weather, of course, the prospect of tracking snow is increased.

As usual, hunters above the Straits will have better luck than those in the Southern Peninsula. Of the 92,000 who hunted last year in the U. P., more than 50,000 were from below the Straits. An average of nearly 42 per cent of those hunting in the U. P. reported getting their deer, a total of 38,500 bucks.

Where is the best "hunting country"? statistics show that last year in the Upper Peninsula it was in Dickinson county, and in the Lower Peninsula it was Alcona county. In Dickinson county 50 per cent of the hunters were successful, and in Alcona county 39 per cent of the hunters got their bucks.

Although not at the top, Delta county was high on the list of

Q. Is Armistice Day a national holiday?

A. A Congressional resolution in 1926 directed the President to issue a proclamation annually for observance of the day. It is a legal holiday in many of the States; and in others observance is asked through proclamations of the various governors. As part of the day's observance, two minutes of silence are included in ceremonies honoring the war dead.

Q. When was the hockey league organized?

A. In 1910 the National Hockey Association was formed in eastern Canada. Prior to that, amateurs and professionals were allowed to play together on mixed teams.

Q. Was the percentage of Jews who served in the U. S. Armed forces during World War II high?

A. Approximately 550,000 (the equivalent of 37 divisions) men and women of the Jewish faith served in the armed forces of the U. S. during World War II. Population studies completed in 20 representative American cities show that the percentage of Jews in uniform was equal to, and in a number of cases was higher than, the ratio of Jews to the general population. Nearly 11,000 Jews are known to have died in service (as of July 1, 1946) and the total number of casualties in all categories authenticated as Jewish was 38,338.

Q. Why is bark especially adapted for covering trees and shrubs?

A. Bark is composed of matter which is very slowly permeable by heat. Like hair and fur in animals, it is especially adapted to secure the temperature necessary to vegetable life.

PENSION PLAN IS APPROVED

Mead Corporation Has Retirement Program
For Employees

The common shareholders of The Mead Corporation at a special meeting held Monday at the principal office of the company in Dayton approved a retirement plan for employees of the company who have had at least five years of service. The company has about six thousand employees at its fourteen plants and it is estimated that about half of them are eligible to participate. The plan requires five years of service and the participation of 75% of those eligible to become effective. It is hoped by the management that it may be declared operative by January in which event the benefits will be retroactive to the beginning of the year.

The plan is of the voluntary contributory type and is composed of two parts, the pension plan to which both the employee and the company contribute, and a profit sharing feature whereby the company will deposit in trust a portion of its profits after setting aside a stipulated amount available for dividends upon its capital stock. The funds will be used to purchase annuities from an insurance company providing income at retirement.

Geo. H. Mead, chairman of the board of the company, stated at the meeting that the plan adopted is the result of several years of intensive study by the management and is designed to supplement the benefits under the social security program of the federal government. Mr. Mead emphasized the benefit of the plan to the company and its shareholders stating that it should not in any sense be looked upon as beneficial only to the employees but should be viewed as a strengthening of the bond between the company and its employees which experience has demonstrated always results in more careful and understanding work with attendant results beneficial to both.

The Mead Corporation is one of the largest manufacturers in the country of book, magazine and writing papers as well as paperboard and tannin acids, operating mills with over 3,500,000 square feet of floor space. The business was established over one hundred years ago in Dayton, Ohio. Sales of more than $53,000,000 were recently announced for the first three quarters of the current year with earnings from operations for the same period of $1.86 per common share. Its total assets are in excess of $57,000,000.

COMPARE THE CARS OF THE "BIG 4"

OF THESE, ONLY KAISER-FRAZER BUILDS POSTWAR CARS!

Prove It Yourself—

Inspect Them All!

Of the world's four largest automobile makers, only Kaiser-Frazer builds genuine postwar cars! The public wants the comfort, safety, styling, roominess and ride that only postwar engineering can achieve. It is this definite demand for something better that has made Kaiser-Frazer one of the "Big 4" in less than two short years. The Kaiser and the Frazer are so new, so different, so directly in line with popular preferences, that they are already the most widely-copied automobiles in the industry. So compare them all! You'll understand why Kaiser-Frazer has made such a spectacular success in so short a time!

Built in a 100%-Postwar Plant

Willow Run is the only 100%-postwar automobile plant! It produces four 100%-postwar cars—the Kaiser, the Frazer, the Kaiser Custom and the Frazer Manhattan. Take your choice—in the price range that best fits your pocketbook. Whichever you select, you may be sure, it is a thoroughly modern automobile—embodying all of the vast technical improvements of the war years. These cars need no changes to bring them up-to-date! Think this over before you invest in personal transportation you will want to use for years!

Economical Mass Production

Kaiser-Frazer cars really have no competition. Many other cars sell in the same price range. But they are not postwar cars. Every product of Willow Run is the result of engineering and design progress made since 1941! And these cars are produced economically. Kaiser-Frazer has, in two years, installed at Willow Run the finest, most efficient, precision mass production equipment available in the world. Much of it was never available before! Many processes have been newly developed by men whose production genius is famous the world around. It was this equipment and this genius that enabled Kaiser-Frazer to break all industry records for its first full year of production—by building more than 125,000 fine automobiles—and selling every one of them!

Investigate Before You Buy!

If you do not know the many important advantages of fully postwar automobiles, built in a fully postwar plant, read the important items in the box at the left! Here are definite, tangible advantages that mean something to every motor car owner. Then make up your mind to go to your nearest Kaiser-Frazer dealer and inspect and drive these cars before you buy any automobile. It's the only sensible thing to do!

Kaiser-Frazer cars are serviced with genuine factory parts—wherever you go—by one of the four largest automobile dealer organizations in the world.

THESE ARE THE FEATURES THAT DISTINGUISH TRULY POSTWAR CARS:

Improved Design—combines medal-winning beauty of line with such practical advantages as wider seats, greater visibility, and the safety of a lower center of gravity.

Improved Engineering—that means a new distribution of mass and load; the rear seat set well forward of the rear wheels; better roadability; a higher ratio of horsepower to weight; greater riding comfort and safety; maximum service accessibility.

Improved Performance—the result of ultra-modern engine design and more horsepower to weight. It means quicker get-away, more rapid acceleration, fatigueless driving.

Improved Roominess—Both seats two inches more than five feet wide—comfortable relaxation for six adults; plenty of leg room and head room; extra baggage space!

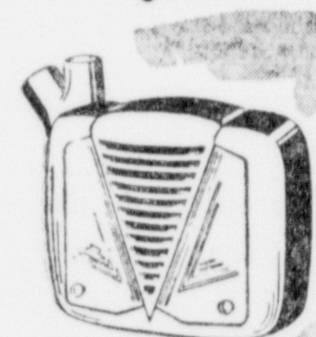

Improved Ride—result of placing the passenger load between the front and rear wheels, and lower to the ground. The "soft" springs are controlled by airplane-type shock absorbers. You get a "cradled" ride never known before at any price!

Improved Safety—result of better visibility (larger windshield and rear window), super-adequate, easy-acting, fully-hydraulic brakes; super-abundant power; finger-tip steering.

Improved Economy—result of high-compression, 100-horsepower, 6-cylinder, L-head engine, and a low weight-per-horsepower that delivers unbelievable miles per gallon of gas, is miserly in the use of oil.

Improved Ease of Control—you can drive all day without tiring. Car steers itself on the straightaway; hugs the road on curves!

HUNTING HAS ITS DANGERS

Ruark Discusses Heart Attacks In Woods Of Michigan

BY ROBERT C. RUARK

New York—Any time now, I was going to shake the moths out of the rusty, trusty towline piece, and fare forth to slay the unwary timouse, or whatever the nim-

Ruark

Dogs. Health. Thundering quail, erupting from the brush. Beard the bear in his lair. Paul Bunyan. No ulcers. Pioneer stuff. Untamed turkey for Thanksgiving.

Now I don't know. Not so sure. You can get hurt in the woods. According to the statistics, the man who pilots the Japanese Kamikaze planes—the suicide Jones—is safer than the man who loads his 20-gauge gun with No. 8 shot and goes out with the idea of herding a snipe into a narrow corner.

Thrombosis Gets 'Em

There is a piece in Hygeia Magazine, the House Organ for the American Medical Association, which says it ain't the vagrant bullet which lays the deer-slayer low, it's the heart misery. You put on your red hat and load up Old Betsy, and before you can spit a curve into the wind you've keeled over with a thrombosis. They say that out of 18 hunting casualties in Michigan last year, 10 were due to coronary conditions. That's 40 per cent, and what it means is that some fat banker overstepped himself. A man whose daily exercise is confined to chasing the stenographer around the office is in no shape to go out in the bush and attempt to type-cast himself as Dan'l Boone. The old arteries just up and holler "hold, enough!"

This would be a recreational hazard I'd gamble on, ordinarily speaking, since we have a slow track in our office and as a result I am in fair shape. But up comes this gloomy state of Michigan with a mess of extra injunctions, all designed to keep me out of the swamps. It's the Department of Health, now, with more taboos than you'd find among the headhunters in the Pacific.

Only Pasteurized Milk

Don't use anything except pasteurized milk, cream and cheese, it says. If you can't find pasteurized milk, carry canned milk. Be sure to wash the fruit you steal from the farmer's orchard, but be sure and don't wash it in a stream you haven't tested.

Die of thirst if you must, it says, but don't drink a gill of water from a hostile creek without dumping in a can of common laundry bleach. Lug along a first aid kit to protect you from blisters, bruises, scratches, punctures, burns and the off chance that your hunting partner's wife confuses you with an elk. Above all things, take a course in how to stop bleeding by using pressure on the arterial supply above a serious wound. Avoid poison ivy as the very black death.

I should like to inject the suggestion here that it would be more than wise to learn how to perform an appendectomy with an old tomato can, and to deliver sextuplets. You might also buy a crate of penicillin and a small ambulance.

As a man who still gets a small bounce out of re-reading James Fenimore Cooper, I cringe for my contemporaries. Leatherstocking must be writhing in his crypt, in concert with Capt. John Smith, Pocahontas, and the aforementioned Master D. Boon, which is how he once spelled it on a tree.

I can remember the days when you wanted to go hunting, all you did was kick the houn' dog out of the fireplace, pick up the gun and start walking. If you got thirsty, you elbowed a couple of hogs out of the creek and shoved your face down in the water until you weren't thirsty any more. You ate anything that struck your fancy, and it was considered bad form to shoot yourself or your best friend in a moment of

Escanaba Described To London Children By Mrs. Emily Pycke

Thanksgiving day will mark the first anniversary of the arrival in Escanaba of Mrs. Emily Pycke from London. Her being here has brought Escanaba close to the children of London.

Each week she pens letters about the city and its people to London schoolmasters who read them to their classes. It is common to do this with many for-gay stupidity. I don't recall ever needing a trained nurse to accompany the dogs.

I think I will go hunting, after all, clad only in a breech clout and carrying a club as my only weapon. Somebody's got to uphold the pioneer tradition, and it might as well be me.

eign correspondents in a British program similar to the American school Lyceum circuit.

Mrs. Pycke lives at 2238 Lake Shore drive with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William Moreau. In England she headed the London Salvation Army for several years and worked extensively in relief duties during the blitz. She has joined the Central Methodist church in Escanaba and was recently appointed Sunday school superintendent.

Mrs. Pycke says she misses the British reserve and conservatism, but is confident that in time she will lose her own reticence and be familiar to our way of life. American children with their utter frankness amaze her. In England, you see, father is always "sir" and "family" discussions are not accepted.

When Mrs. Pycke arrived in Escanaba, Thanksgiving day in 1946, from bombed out, half-starved England, the lights of Ludington street and the park fascinated her. She had heard of the legend of Hiawatha and since her arrival has done considerable investigating of the folklore of both Hiawatha and Paul Bunyan.

Last winter the sun's radiations from the roof of her ex-GI son-in-law prompted her to poetry. She has written both prose and poetry for many years. The greatest compliment to her work was that paid by an American editor, says Mrs. Pycke. He remarked that Mrs. Pycke was one woman who wrote simply and sparingly of great things, without leaving anything unsaid. To the editor of the religious magazine such a quality was rare in current writings.

Christmas Shopping Now
This last week Mrs. Pycke has been devoting a great deal of her time to shopping and wrapping gifts for her London friends. During the war she saw a great deal suffering and has not forgotten what food rationing means nor deprivation and cold.

Along with those will go little sketches of Escanaba, Little Bay de Nocquet and of course news of Mrs. Pycke and her daughter and their new life in the United States.

Social Situations

SITUATION: A neighbor's child, who plays in your yard a great deal will not mind you.

WRONG WAY: Threaten him with punishment if he doesn't mind.

RIGHT WAY: Send him home and tell him he can't come back until he is willing to mind you.

HUNTER ARMY
ON INCREASE

State Police Request
Tourists To Stop
And Register

The rush of hunters is on. Slow in getting started, the trek of down state residents to favored spots came with a rush Sunday morning.

Incidentally, many of these hunters have called at the local state police headquarters to register and list where they may be found in case any emergency at home should arise.

This the state police department is urging hunters in general to do because every fall the department is called upon to get in touch with hunters where there has happened to be a death in the family or some serious business crisis has arisen demanding the hunter's presence at home. Where the men have registered it is a simple matter to get in touch with them, but often the police have been put to serious inconvenience.

State police also wish that hunters would take more serious trouble in packing up their equipment, particularly if this equipment is put on a trailer. Every time the police are called to help recover some gun, bedding, or other paraphernalia that worked loose from the trailer and was picked up by someone.

The first of these unpleasantnesses occurred Monday morning when a hunting party stopped at the station to report that their tent had either dropped off the trailer or had been stolen.

Years for Smashing
Eat Shop Windows

For the folly of allowing himself to get drunk and disorderly, Joe Busch, timber worker from Seney, will have ample time to think things over at the Marquette prison. Following his plea of guilty to willful destruction of property before Judge Herbert Runkless in a special term of circuit court Monday morning, Busch was sentenced to serve a term in prison of from one to four years.

The offense in question was the smashing of the windows of the Eat Shop in the early hours of the morning of October 2. Violent after a drinking spree, Busch was unable to tell why he committed this offense against a friend who has on numerous occasions befriended him.

To Discuss Problems In Three U. P. Communities

"Our Town Tomorrow" will be the theme of three two-day institutes to be held later this winter in Escanaba and two other Upper Peninsula communities, in which problems of the community and the surrounding area will be discussed, it was announced today by Charles Folio, supervisor of University of Michigan extension service in the U. P.

Preliminary to the community institutes will be meetings later this month in each of the cities, attended by a small group of leaders and officials. At the group meetings, arrangements will be made for the institute and an effort made to determine what problems of the area will be discussed. The first of these preliminary group meetings will be held in Sault Ste. Marie on Nov. 24, the second in Iron Mountain Nov. 26, and the third in Escanaba Nov. 28.

After the meetings when a determination of the major problems of the area is made the "Our Town Tomorrow" institutes will be held. An effort will be made to bring to the institute members of college and university faculties who are authorities on the problems to be discussed.

The institute program is sponsored by the State Department of Public Instruction, University of Michigan, Michigan State College, Northern Michigan College of Education, and perhaps the Michigan College of Mining and Technology at Houghton.

It will be financed from funds remaining in a $12,000 bequest by the late Dr. James D. Bruce, vice-president of the University of Michigan, and head of post graduate medicine at U. of M. Dr. Bruce died two years ago and the bequest was left to promote adult education in Michigan.

Directing the institute program in the Upper Peninsula will be George Gilbert of Marquette, U. P. Representative of the State Department of Public Instruction, Dr. Charles Lucas, Northern Michigan College of Education, Mr. Folio, and probably F. L. Partlo, of Michigan College of Mining and Technology.

Purpose of the "Our Town Tomorrow" institutes is to help leaders in community areas in recognizing their problems and deciding what should be done to solve them. It is a "self-help" program from which definite accomplishment for the good of the area is expected.

Stalin will be 68 years old on Dec. 21. Reports from Moscow and elsewhere have indicated that he has been spending considerable time at Sochi and other Black Sea resorts. He was not present last week at the 30th anniversary celebration of the Bolshevik revolution in Moscow.

The wealth of the Nizam of Hyderabad has been estimated at $2 billion.

Johnson Estate Controversy Is Heard In Court

In a special session of Schoolcraft County Circuit Court beginning Monday, with Judge Herbert Runnels presiding, matters pertaining to the estate of the late Nels S. Johnson are being heard.

In probate court, several months ago Judge Ralph Merwin had ruled that G. S. Johnson be deposited as administrator of the estate and the present hearings are in the nature of an appeal from that decision.

Lengthy testimony was given by Robert J. Michaels, auditor of the Morton Motor Company at Marquette, and by Tillie Peterson of the litigants opposing Johnson.

Testimony took up a major portion of Monday afternoon and was due to continue the next day. Glen W. Jackson, of Gladstone,

London Couple Here On Way To British Columbia

Among the hundreds of cars passing through Manistique Monday, the one that really made people pause and look around was a car of massive and unfamiliar lines. At its rear were two license plates—or rather two strips of leather or composition on which numbers and insignia were fastened—one bore the letters "GB" and the other "WD" and a certain number. The steering wheel was on the right.

The occupants were Mr. and Mrs. J. Chertiers of London, England, and they were motoring to Vancouver, British Columbia. "GB" they explained was Great Britain and the "WD" on the other plate indicated the county where the license application was made.

London, Mr. Chertiers stated, is recovering "fairly fast" from the effects of the war but housing is still a very serious problem. "We have a lot of rotted rackets over there which I presume you have also."

SAVAGE CHINESE WAR AT CRISIS

Government Defenses Broken By Reds; Rich Loot Seen

BY SPENCER MOOSA
Peiping, Nov. 11. (AP)—Communists reported to have penetrated the first of three defense lines around Shikhiachang today and military observers said the next 48 hours would decide the issue in China's most savage battle of the Civil War. Reports said about 100,000 Red troops were engaged.

The Reds, despite counterblows from the air, broke through government defenses northeast of the strategic rail junction, 172 miles southwest of Peiping.

Capture of Shikhiachang would give the Communists a corridor between northern Shantung Province and northern Shensi and, even if they failed to hold the city, would provide them with machinery, cotton and other rich loot.

The government indicated it was determined to hold Shikhiachang at all cost. Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek has directed his air force to give all possible assistance to the besieged garrison.

The fighting in Manchuria apparently was going better for the government. A Mukden dispatch from the government's Central News Agency reported a Communist Division (8,000 men at least) was put to flight by national troops after several days of fighting west of Changwu, in western Liaoning.

Ring Helps Prove Fate of Kidnaped Los Angeles Child

Los Angeles, Nov. 11. (AP)—A child's skeleton, a tiny gold signet ring, and remnants of clothing today spelled out the fate of Rochelle Gluskoter, 6, kidnaped Feb. 15, 1946.

The skeleton and clothing, bits of a tweed coat and a red and white print dress were found by a hunter in an Orange county ravine Sunday. The ring turned up yesterday as sheriff's investigators of Los Angeles and Orange counties sifted bushes, of soil and searched through weeds.

The parents, Abe and Miriam Gluskoter, delicatessen proprietors, identified the tragic remnants as belonging to their only child.

"That's the ring," said Mrs. Gluskoter when an investigator showed her the band, with a heart and initialled "R." Her husband agreed. Both said the clothing was that which Rochelle was wearing the day she was playing in a neighbor's yard and was seen to enter a stranger's automobile. There was no further trace of Rochelle until the discoveries Sunday and yesterday.

gram, in addition to $597,000,000 for immediate stop-gap aid to France, Italy and Austria, Marshall said.

The secretary of state said the amount represents additional appropriations to be requested of congress beyond those already voted for foreign financing in the last session.

The cabinet member gave these estimates in response to a request by Chairman Vandenberg (R-Mich.) for a "total balance sheet" of proposed expenditures in the government year ending next June 30.

Marshall already has said that the long-range recovery program will cost about $7,500,000,000 in the 15 months after the end of the emergency aid program March 31. He has estimated its final over-all cost to this country at somewhere between $16,000,000,000 and $20,000,000,000.

Vandenberg asked if any allowances are being made for extending financial aid to Latin-American countries.

Marshall replied that it is the present intention to take care of Latin-American needs by loans through the export-import bank.

As Marshall gave his testimony on the foreign situation, there were indications that President Truman may meet stiff opposition if he asks for new cost of living controls at home.

Senator George (D-Ga.) told a reporter he is prepared to fight any effort to place new curbs on the domestic economy.

Home Fires Fatal To Three Persons In West Michigan

(By The Associated Press)

Two Kent county children burned to death early today (Tuesday), a Manistee woman was fatally burned Monday, and an Emmet county mother led her eight children to safety, as fires and explosions struck at three western Michigan homes.

Shirley Ann Converse, 8, and her brother Lewis, 4, died when flames destroyed the family converted street car trailer home near Highway M-21 East of Ada. The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Converse, a two-weeks-old infant, and son, Robert, 6, who suffered burns, escaped from the burning dwelling.

Officers said the fire apparently started from a defective oil stove chimney.

Near Manistee Mrs. Reinhold Krause, 45, was fatally burned at her farm home when a kitchen stove exploded.

Near Harbor Springs Monday fire destroyed the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis J. Bonter when a kitchen stove exploded. Mrs. Bonter led her eight children to safety.

BOOM BRINGING TAX WINDFALL

New Revenue To Help Defray Costs Of European Aid

Washington, Nov. 11.—(AP)—A tax windfall resulting from booming business is showing promise of balancing off part of this year's added costs of aid to Europe.

Some government analysts said today receipts for the current fiscal year ending next June 30 may top the present budget estimate of $41,700,000,000 by $2,000,000,000 if nothing happens to check the revenue flow. Last year's total was $43,200,000,000.

Secretary of State Marshall yesterday put at $2,597,000,000 the cost of this country's stop-gap and long range assistance programs between now and the end of the fiscal year. His total included $597,000,000 in emergency aid to France, Italy and Austria; $500,000,000 for the army to spend in occupied areas; and $1,500,000,000 for the first three months of the long range recovery program.

The government analysts said they see little or no threat on the business horizon to continued high tax revenues, but they added that any tax cutting measure could upset their new calculations.

Revenue collections for the first third of this fiscal year—the slackest season of the tax collection calendar—belied budget bureau predictions by running $200,000,000 ahead, instead of behind, the same period of last year.

Individual income tax payments are expected to zoom even higher when farmers, who are outside the withholding system, pay their taxes on income helped to new records by high prices.

Negro Awaits Trial For Shooting Three Near Bitley, Mich.

White Cloud, Mich., Nov. 11.—(AP)—A 57-year-old Negro accused of partially blinding a deputy sheriff and wounding two other persons in a Nov. 1 shooting spree, today faced circuit court trial on a charge of assault with intent to commit murder.

Waiving examination before Justice George W. Decker last night, John Carter was ordered held for arraignment Wednesday morning before Circuit Judge Earl C. Pugsley.

Carter surrendered Monday after 10 days of hiding in the deep brush near his home in Bitley. A 30-man posse was combing the area for him when he gave himself up at Baldwin by going to the pastor of his church and saying he wanted "to get it over with."

Dealers Association scheduled a meeting tonight to discuss the Skillman report.

As specific warrants from the Detroit grand jury were awaited, Michigan Attorney General Eugene Black promised an early renewal of a similar probe begun in Flint and suspended two months ago.

"The Flint grand jury is not a dead issue and probably will resume operations soon," Black said.

He declared one reason why Genesee Circuit Judge Clifford Bishop had to suspend operations was the lack of auditors to make a thorough check of the financial situation of the dealers, but expressed hope that sufficient investigators could be sent to Flint for the purpose in the near future.

Black was to be consulted by the governor, along with Secretary of State Fred M. Alger, Jr., and State Revenue Commissioner Louis M. Nims, regarding prosecutions in connection with alleged faulty enforcement of penalty provisions of the motor vehicle and sales tax laws.

Sigler said he planned to take the matter before a special legislative session in March.

SUPPORTS O.V.A.

I want to give three cheers to Mrs. Canavan's statement printed in the Daily Press of Nov. 10. According to some veterans with whom I have been talking, they feel the same. For almost two years now I've been reading criticisms of the service and management of the O.V.A. Why is it that someone always ends up with a derogatory feeling toward the O.V.A. And yet it isn't directly at the office, but rather the workers in it. The most loyal, sincere, and competent select group of people, who through their untiring efforts have helped secure aid and information of all sorts for countless hundreds of veterans. But what do they get for it, nothing but abuse and mockery. And it certainly doesn't come from the veterans. But rather from persons who have a tendency to be jealous. I say let's leave well enough alone and leave the O.V.A. at its present site. The veterans of Delta county have important papers on file with that office, and these papers must be referred to from time to time. So if they start moving these files all over town, something is bound to be misplaced. And before I close a special commendation goes to Mr. R. LeMire and Mr. G. Cleary for their help and cooperation in making a success of the O.V.A in this community.

... If We Can Get King Midas Egg Mash We'll Lay More Eggs!

Mr. Poultryman says we'll have to lay more eggs for him. And we will, too, if he feeds us right. We aren't a lazy bunch of hens but we can't lay a lot of eggs on poor feed. King Midas feed will make us produce more, and we're all for it. It's complete. It's made right. And it's packed full of the things we need for bigger egg profits.

Upper Peninsula Gets Recognition In State Prep Grid Ratings

Menominee Makes Top Ten; Eskymos, Braves Get Honorable Mention

By The Associated Press

Flint Central High school's Redskins, winners of eight straight games, was voted top place among Michigan's scholastic football teams for the second straight week today in a poll of sports writers conducted by the Associated Press.

Flint Central, Friday victor over Bay City by 26 to 0, is on the top rung of the Saginaw Valley conference with five wins and no losses, and in addition holds wins over Ann Arbor, Lansing Sexton and Muskegon.

Crisler Compares Badgers With U-M, Finds Them Similar

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 11 (AP)—Fritz Crisler might have been talking about his own undefeated University of Michigan Wolverines—but he wasn't. He was analyzing the strength of the Badgers of the University of Wisconsin, next Saturday's opponent and last major threat to Michigan's Rose Bowl hopes and the Western conference championship.

A sellout crowd of 45,000 fans will, if the Michigan coach's estimate is correct, note a striking similarity between the two teams when the Crisler-men invade Madison, Wis.

First of all, Crisler said at a press conference yesterday, after consulting scouting reports on Badger contests against Northwestern, Marquette and Iowa, "Wisconsin is faster than any team we've met this year." (Wisconsin undoubtedly faces the same prospect in the Wolverines).

Crisler whose passing attack, directed chiefly by deadeye Bob Chappuis, has netted four touchdowns in the last three games, expressed concern over Wisconsin's aerial game, spearheaded by Earl (Jug) Girard, that has clicked for five touchdowns in the last three contests.

"Wisconsin is two or three deep in line, fast backs," The Michigan pilot declared. "There's Girard, Clarence Self, Wally Dreyer, Gene Evans, Jack Wink, Lyle Blackburn."

It would indeed be a huge club if it had any more fine backs than Michigan has in such artists as Chappuis, Jack Weisenburger, Chalmers (Bump) Elliott, Henry Fonde, Dick Derricotte, etc.

And then, Crisler, who just recently stated his own Wolverines have "improved with every game," said just that about the Badger outfit.

The indications certainly point to a battle of the year when the two teams meet Saturday, but it is just as certain that the similarity will end on the scoreboard.

Spec Senders Finds Ample 'Lebensraum'

New York, Nov. 11 (AP)—The New York Yankees' Orban "Spec" Sanders, from the wide open spaces of Texas, is finding plenty of lebensraum within the confines of pro football.

His sensational 322 yards from rushing and passing against San Francisco Sunday set a new single-game total offense mark for the All-America football conference, passing George Ratterman's 297 yards for Buffalo against Chicago.

Tossing in the yards he traveled returning kickoffs and running back punts, he had a "workhorse" total of 450 yards in 43 plays, to break his own AAFC mark of 362.

Consequently Sanders, who trailed Otto Graham of Cleveland by a single yard last week, moved well into the front in total offense, with 934 rushing and 1,097 passing yards for a total of 2,031.

Senders needs only 71 yards in his 11th game against Los Angeles Sunday to break the all-time major league rushing mark of 1,004 set by Beattie Feathers in 11 games in 1934.

Apps Takes Over Puck Scoring Lead

Montreal, Nov. 11 (AP)—Syl Apps, veteran center of the Stanley Cup champion Toronto Maple Leafs, enjoys a one point margin in the National Hockey league's individual scoring race today.

The 32-year old star picked up four points during the past week to increase his output to 12, one more than runner-ups Buddy O'Connor of New York and Montreal's Maurice Richard have collected.

Apps, who broke into pro hockey with the Leafs during the 1930-31 season, was in a three way tie for third place a week ago while Richard and his linemate, Toe Blake were dueling for the lead.

The five goals and seven assists scored so far by the Leaf captain increases his lifetime output for both the regular season and the Stanley Cup playoffs to 201 goals and 235 assists for a total of 436 points.

Muskegon's Big Reds won their 26th straight game last Friday in turning back Kalamazoo Central 8 to 6 in the mud.

The sports writers' ballots gave third place to another Flint team—Flint Northern, which eleven provides the last big test for the Flint Central club in a game down on the books for Thanksgiving Day.

An Upper Peninsula team crashed into the top ten teams this week, as sports authors above the Straits sang the praises of the Menominee High school Maroons and gave the undefeated and untied U-P leaders three first-place ballots. Menominee won the U-P championship handsily and is undefeated with seven straight wins.

Here's how the balloting lined up the state high school teams:

First Ten	Points
1. Flint Central	137
2. Muskegon Heights	118
3. Flint Northern	79
4. Tamtramek	72
5. Grand Rapids Central	62
6. Lansing Sexton	62
7. Saginaw Arthur Hill	54
8. Port Huron	50
9. Menominee	37
10. Battle Creek	29

Second Ten	Points
11. Wyandotte	22
12. Iron River	18
13. Iron Mountain	11
14. Cooley	11
15. Alpena	10
16. Detroit Denby	9
17. Stambaugh	8
18. Mt. Pleasant	6
19. Ypsilanti Central	6
20. Negaunee	6

21. Wyandotte: Bessemer Houghton, Ludington, Charlevoix, Gladstone, Escanaba, Muskegon, Redford, Dearborn Fordson, Ann Arbor, St. Thomas, Hancock, Greenville and Freimont.

Tribe Picks Up Hot Hurler, One William Kennedy

By BOB BURNS
Cincinnati, Nov. 11 (AP)—It's a long shot, but the Cleveland Indians might have picked up the best bargain at the major league player draft here yesterday when Bill Veck, president of Ohio's entry in the American league, put the finger on William Kennedy, a southpaw pitcher owned by Louisville of the American Association.

Kennedy, 29 years old, has an eye-opening record in organized baseball.

Last season with Scranton, Pa., one of the Class A Eastern league, like Louisville a farm club of the Boston Red Sox, Kennedy won 15 games, lost only two. He was voted the Eastern league's most valuable pitcher.

Kennedy cost Cleveland $10,000—the draft price for a player owned by a Class AAA league. The Tribe also shelled out 10 grand for Leonard Ratto, an infielder, who batted 267 and sparked defensively for Portland, Ore., of the Pacific Coast league in 1947.

K-Cs Hold Cage Practice Tonight

All members of the Knights of Columbus interested in playing basketball are asked to report at St. Joseph's school gymnasium at 9:30 tonight, at which time a team will be organized for participation in the city national league.

AND THEN—HAWAII!
East Lansing, Nov. 11 (AP)—Michigan State will mark the ninth renewal of a football series lapsed since 1942 when the Spartans invade Philadelphia to meet Temple University next Saturday. Following the Temple engagement, Michigan State observes an open date and then will start on a 9,000 mile trans-oceanic junket to ring down the curtain Nov. 29 against the University at Honolulu.

ESCANABA DAILY PRESS SPORTS

BY JIM WARD

Upper Peninsula baseball fans who recall Harry Heilmann's successful U. P. speaking tour last fall will be glad to hear that Harry is on the march again.

He will be flanked this time by the colorful Dizzy Trout and Bob Swift, Detroit Tiger baseball battery, who promise to lend more than moral support.

Heilmann, who packed them in wherever he appeared last autumn, is a show in himself, and with Trout and Swift along this time, it promises to be a very interesting visit indeed.

They will come to Escanaba Friday, Dec. 5, making a 10:30 a. m. appearance at the senior high school, a 1:40 p. m. assembly at junior high, and a radio broadcast and public dinner also are being arranged, details of which will be announced later.

Having met Trout on the occasion of his recent partridge foray into these parts, we can assure you the guy has color. He talks a blue streak, has mannerisms that stamp him of the big time, not of the same magnitude but cut from the same pattern as fellows like Dizzy Dean and Pepper Martin, and he has a wealth of baseball stories. Swift is reputed to be of the same ilk.

"I'm on this tour to get a good look at and have some heart-to-heart talks with the fans who help pay my salary," Trout said. Which gives you some idea of what to expect. Dizzy might have added that he timed this jaunt to coincide with the deer hunting season.

No advance report of this visit would be complete without giving you Heilmann's record at bat. One of baseball's all-time greats, Heilmann won the American league batting championship for four years, hitting .394 in 1921, .403 in 1923, .393 in 1925 and .398 in 1927. He was with the Tigers 15 years, during which time he compiled a batting average of .342. He ended his career in 1930 batting .333 for Cincinnati.

Of recent years, Heilmann has developed into a first-rate radio sportscaster and baseball announcer. No Tiger game would be complete without Harry at the "mike". He doesn't split infinitives like Dizzy Dean, but he does a bangup job of calling the game and supplying a wealth of interesting background information during those lulls in the game.

Escanaba Hawks Have Five Home Clashes In New U. P. Hockey Loop

The Escanaba Hawks, newly-uniformed and awaiting only a sheet of ice on which to practice, will play five home games in the newly-organized Upper Michigan Amateur Hockey league.

Organized at a meeting in the Escanaba city hall Sunday afternoon, the new circuit will hold its final organization session in the Marquette city hall Sunday, Dec. 14, for the purpose of electing officers, appointing a commissioner and adopting the constitution and by-laws.

Games will be played on Sundays through January and February, with the final games slated for Feb. 29. Following completion of the schedule, a Shaughnessy-type playoff will be held for the championship.

Subject to minor changes, the schedule follows:

Jan. 4—Newberry at Escanaba, Gladstone at Marquette; Jan. 11—Escanaba at Gladstone, Marquette at Newberry; Jan. 18—Marquette at Escanaba, Newberry at Gladstone; Jan. 25—Escanaba at Newberry, Gladstone at Marquette; Feb. 1—Marquette at Newberry, Gladstone at Escanaba; Feb. 8—Escanaba at Marquette, Newberry at Gladstone; Feb. 15—Newberry at Escanaba, Marquette at Gladstone; Feb. 22—Gladstone at Escanaba, Marquette at Newberry; Feb. 29—Escanaba at Marquette, Gladstone at Newberry.

Bethany Lutheran won its home opener by turning back First Methodist, 2 to 0, 6 to 1, and 6 to 4.

Tonight's schedule follows: First Methodist at St. Stephen's.

Central Methodist at Bethany Lutheran.

GRAND RAPIDS WINS
Kansas City, Nov. 11 (AP)—Although trailed closely all the way by the Kansas City Blues, the Grand Rapids, Mich., cage team squeezed out a 62 to 59 decision last night in a National Professional Basketball League of America game.

DICK BONIFAS

ENDS GRIDIRON CAREER — Dick Bonifas, six-foot 185-pound grinder from Isabella, played his last game of football for Northern Michigan College of Education last Saturday. Bonifas played two seasons at guard before joining the Marines. His football playing was interrupted by a little fracas in the Solomon Islands and New Zealand, but he picked up where he left off and is slated to get his sheepskin next spring.

New York, Nov. 11 (AP)—Notre Dame tops the Associated Press football writers poll for the third straight week with 69 per cent of the first place votes after its enthusiastic 27-7 defeat of Army in the finale of a great series.

Ranked No. 1 by 117 of the 169 participating sports writers, the fighting Irish next tackle off-beaten Northwestern, a traditional foe, while runnerup Michigan, with 34 first place votes, takes on improving Wisconsin in a game that may decide the Big Nine title.

The team which has been practicing for the past three weeks under direction of Thor Reque, has been impressive in scrimmage.

IRON MOUNTAIN NEXT NWM Foe

Delta Hardware's Host To Mountaineers Friday Night

The Escanaba Delta hardware's face their second NWM foe here Friday night when they meet Squinch's Turf Bar of Iron Mountain in the junior high at 9:15. The game will be preceded by a preliminary, beginning at 8.

The Iron Mountain quintet, managed by Louis Perucco, finished fourth last year in the Northern Wisconsin-Michigan league and expects to improve its record by the addition of two former Iron Mountain high school stars, Bill Johnson and Andy Izzo.

The Mountaineers have been working out for several weeks and have one game under their belts, being defeated by the Silver Foxes of Hermansville last week. Manager Perucco claims his boys weren't quite ready for the Foxes and he promises to put a vastly improved team on the floor against the Hardware.

The Escanaba Five, on the other hand, opened up their season with a 68 to 28 triumph over the Crystal Falls Ramblers, with Bobby Ranguette dropping in 15 field goals.

Whether the Deltas were hot or Crystal Falls week, that is the question, and many local fans are expected to turn out Friday night for at least a partial answer.

WE CELEBRATE ARMISTICE DAY

as the anniversary of a great victory but our recognition of the occasion will be inadequate unless we remember for what our country fought.

In times like these, when human freedom is threatened as never before, the most appropriate observance of such an occasion must take the form of rededication to the ideals of liberty of which our country has proved itself the most effective defender.
